

March to May (MAM )2026 Seasonal Forecast for South Sudan

The Greater Horn of Africa(GHA) Regional Consensus Forecast for March to May (MAM) 2026 rainfall season was developed at the IGAD Climate Prediction and Applications Centre (ICPAC) by the Member States' National Meteorological and Hydrological Services (NMHSs) in collaboration with, the World Meteorological Organization (WMO) and partners from 13 – 19 January 2026

The development of the Forecast was followed by a Statement released on 27 January 2026 in Nairobi, Kenya during the 72nd Greater Horn of Africa Climate Outlook Forum (GHACOF 72) which was held on the 26–27 Jan. 2026 to formulate the Regional Outlook for MAM2026 Season

Key Highlights of MAM 2026 Climate Forecast (Outlook) for South Sudan:

1. Rainfall Outlook

The Rainfall Forecast for South Sudan indicates:

- High probability of 55% for Above-Average rainfall in the Southern parts of Central and Eastern Equatoria States and Northern Lakes State during March to May2026 Season.
- A Probability of 45% for Near to Average (normal) rainfall over southern to eastern parts of Eastern equatorial state, much of central Equatoria State; Southwest to Northern Western Equatoria; Southeastern Western Bhar el Ghazal; much of Lakes and Warrap States; South of Unity States, Northern Jonglei, South to Southeast of Upper Nile State.
- A Probability of 40% for Average (normal) rainfall over Western parts of Western Equatoria; Northwest of Eastern Equatoria; Southern Jonglei and much of Pibor Administrative Area. And central Upper Nile State.
- Drier (Climatologically dry) Conditions in the Northern part of South Sudan
- Normal Onset of Rains in many parts of the country during MAM2026 Season
- Dry spells may occur in areas predicted to receive Above-normal rainfall and Wet spells may also be experienced in areas expected to receive Normal rainfall

Fig.1 Rainfall Forecast for South Sudan

Fig.2 Rainfall Forecast for GHA region

2. Temperature Forecast

The Temperature Forecast for South Sudan shows:

- Warmer-than-average Temperatures across most parts of South Sudan with higher probabilities over isolated areas in the far North-east and Northwest of the country.

Fig3. MAM2026 Temperature forecast for South Sudan

Fig4. Temperature forecast for the GHA

